While maintenance-free, independent living means fewer chores and duties around the house, we believe that the burdens that are lifted are less important than the opportunities created. At Chelsea Retirement Community, independent living creates the opportunity to pursue passions, explore new interests and meet new people. Simply stated, Chelsea Retirement Community offers its residents more. More amenities. More options. More attention to details. More choices that allow you to lead the fulfilling life that you desire, while knowing that your future is secure.

Located on our beautifully landscaped 58-acre campus, Dancey House and The Garden Apartments offer a combination of comfort, convenience, sociability and privacy. In addition, The Garden Cottages feature our newest, and most spacious living opportunities. Plus, you'll have access to all of Chelsea Retirement Community's amenities – from exciting activities, to delicious dining. And with downtown Chelsea and Ann Arbor just minutes away, you can enjoy the shopping and culture that these cities offer.

"At Chelsea Retirement Community, food is an important part of campus life. From friends getting together to share a dinner and catch up on the day's events, to individuals pursuing their passion for cooking in one of our organized classes, food is a common bond. I'm proud of the tremendous dining options and activities that are available to residents here."
